Mindful Reflections by Mark Shin

As a freelance designer, I always try to keep the clients vision front and center.

The validator of truth isnt a machine its your own intuition.

Sometimes you need to run a mental node check are you even present right now?

Reading about blockchain always makes me wonder how we store value in our lives.

Reading about blockchain always makes me wonder how we store value in our lives.

I had to renew my federal student aid application last week a whole process.

As a freelance designer, I always try to keep the clients vision front and center.

The validator of truth isnt a machine its your own intuition.

We all have smart contracts with ourselves commitments we try to keep.

Life exploits your weaknesses until you finally patch them.

Shes an icon not because shes loud, but because shes consistent.

Sometimes you need to run a mental node check are you even present right now?

Shes an icon not because shes loud, but because shes consistent.

Sometimes you need to run a mental node check are you even present right now?

Every new idea goes through a trial phase before it sticks.

As a freelance designer, I always try to keep the clients vision front and center.

Sometimes you need to run a mental node check are you even present right now?

Every new idea goes through a trial phase before it sticks.

Comparison is the theft of joy, and Ive learned to guard mine carefully.

We all have smart contracts with ourselves commitments we try to keep.